Dear all

One item this week:

- three vacancies in the OR Department at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California

If you would like something included in this digest please email it to office@mssanz.org.au

kind regards, Karen

---

The Operations Research (OR) Department at the Naval Postgraduate School (NPS) seeks applicants for three open-rank tenure-track positions in the following areas:

- Statistics and Data Science, which includes applied statistics, machine learning, data mining, experimental design and analysis, and defense systems modeling.
- Computation and Data Science, which includes computational methods, data science, and systems modeling.
- Applied OR, which includes (but is not limited to) applications in data science, military modeling, logistics, infrastructure, energy, environment, defense, homeland security, and cyber.

We will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2020 and will continue to accept applications through December 1, 2020. For more details about the NPS OR department, as well as qualifications and the application process, please see the official job posting at https://www.nps.edu/web/or/hiring.