

Dear all

In this week's digest:

- Two Masters by Research scholarships are available at the Hawkesbury Institute for the Environment at Western Sydney University in the area of modelling of Australian vegetation dynamics <https://bit.ly/3fUEM3g>
- WaterNSW has a job opening for a Hydraulic Modeller <https://waterNSW.applynow.net.au/jobs/WaterNSW2000>
- The first list of workshops to be held on Friday 14 July at MODSIM2023 is now available on the MODSIM2023 website at <https://mssanz.org.au/modsim2023/workshops.html>. Venues and exact times are not final, but take a look now to see which of these workshops may interest you. Further details will be included as they become available.
- Another reminder to please book accommodation for MODSIM2023 as soon as possible. The Mercure and Novotel at the Darwin Airport are offering a 10% discount on the best available rate at the time of booking for MODSIM attendees. You must contact the hotels directly and quote the relevant code, you will not get the discount if you book online.
